1. Italian Sausage Bolognese

Italian Sausage Bolognese

An Italian-American version of traditional Bolognese using sweet Italian sausage, with ingredients chopped into rice-sized pieces for even cooking. Features star anise for meaty flavors and colatura for umami. Results in a hearty but sophisticated sauce that pairs well with egg-based pastas.

Prep: 30 min • Cook: 150 min • Servings: 9

Ingredients

- 2.0 yellow onions, coarsely , chopped
- 4.0 garlic cloves , peeled
- 5.0 celery ribs, coarsely , chopped
- 2.0 carrots, coarsely , chopped
- 4.0 ounces pancetta, cut into 1-inch cubes
- 1.0 pound sweet Italian sausage, casings removed
- 1.0 pound ground veal
- 3.0 tablespoons kosher salt
- 2.0 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
- 0.5 cup tomato paste
- 1.0 cup white wine
- 2.0 (28-ounce) cans , whole tomatoes (preferably san marzano dop)
- 2.0 cups whole milk
- 2.0 whole star anise
- 2.0 teaspoons colatura or fish sauce, plus more to taste
- 1.0 tablespoon sugar
- 2.0 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
- 0.5 cup kosher salt (for pasta water)
- 2.0 pounds fresh egg pasta, such as pappardelle, tagliatelle, or linguine
- 4.0 tablespoons (1/2 stick) unsalted butter
- 0.5 cup finely , grated parmesan-reggiano cheese, plus 1/4 cup (optional) for serving (optional)

Instructions

1. In a food processor, working in batches if necessary, process the onions, garlic, celery, and carrots until chopped as finely as possible, similar in size to uncooked rice. Set aside.
2. Rinse the food processor and process the pancetta until very finely chopped, the same size as the vegetables. Set aside.
3. In a medium bowl, mix the Italian sausage and veal together and season with the salt.
4. In a large heavy-bottomed pot, heat the olive oil over high heat. When it shimmers, add the meat, stirring frequently with a wooden spoon to break it up into small pieces, until evenly browned, about 15 minutes.
5. Remove the meat with a slotted spoon and set aside. Drain any excess fat from the pot but keep the browned bits on the bottom (do not wash).
6. Add the pancetta to the pot over medium heat and cook, stirring occasionally, until the fat is rendered and the pancetta is browned, 8 to 10 minutes.
7. Add the processed vegetables and cook, stirring often, until the vegetables are very soft and have taken on a darker hue, 10 to 15 minutes.
8. Add the tomato paste and cook, continuing to stir, for 5 minutes, until deep orange and caramelized.
9. Stir in the wine and cook until fully evaporated, about 5 minutes.
10. Meanwhile, using your hands, crush the tomatoes (including the liquid) over a medium bowl until completely broken up.
11. Return the ground meat to the pot. Add the milk, star anise, and tomatoes. Stir well, bring to a simmer, and cook over medium-low heat, uncovered, stirring occasionally, until the sauce thickens and is bright orange, about 2 hours.
12. If any fat separates, whisk it back in to emulsify. Discard the star anise.
13. Remove the pot from the heat and add the colatura, sugar, and lemon juice and stir well to incorporate and re-emulsify the sauce.
14. To serve with pasta: In a large pot, bring 4 quarts water and the salt to a boil over high heat. Add the pasta and cook according to the package directions.
15. Drain and add the pasta to the sauce, tossing to coat. Add the butter and parmesan and stir well to combine.
16. Transfer to individual plates or a serving platter. Top with more cheese, if desired. Serve immediately.
